

Handwritten text on the left side of the palm leaf, partially obscured by a large tear. The script is in an ancient South Indian language, likely Grantha or Tamil.

Handwritten text on the right side of the palm leaf, continuing from the left. The script is in an ancient South Indian language, likely Grantha or Tamil. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines across the leaf.

